My darling Child.
I had promised anyone that you to write to me this I should certain by this opportunity them Opportunity this time you Friend Jesus God this you will must you and them send letter for I am too time of to write intelligible Cottage and enabling thy very much glad want to know

Bedard on route to Ruth Coos, with my order in post office jogged together and all up and business to own part

hot day. After our frugal repast consisting chiefly of pie pineapple & milk, Jess brought me the news that a man had been almost killed by the caving in of the earth while digging one sewer communication trench so I went up there and Mr Cunningway took me to see the poor fellow. His chief injury is a broken shoulder bone of course he will be laid up several weeks at best, he has no children but a sick wife. I took him some jelly & gave the poor wife some money to buy necessaries, I suppose I must take care of them a few weeks anyhow.
Addie's family are all right & Evanston looking very lovely. Tomorrow Gertie is coming to wash I suppose we shall roast

Less I am thinking of going to a sociable on Thursday night, and I have an invitation to a musical at Mrs Marsh's for Friday afte noon but am going to St Pauls ladies meeting instead at Mrs Doughtys Alice Fallows sent us all invitations to see her graduate Thursday night, & to a reception at the school to night I sent regrets. Many loving enquiries are made for you, Ed Ham
-ingway was the last.
The big bugging June bugs are making night hideous. The final coat of plaster is on all the rooms upstairs at the Castello de Galopinos.
but they have made the

Dad Papa intend that I would rather have the walk round on the lower side of the house. That trifle, and a negative in the wrong place, are the only aggravations to-day,
that I have found out.
Tell Papa Mick Miller is quite marked up about our having soft prunes & persuaded me to go tonight & see a house near them which is finished in Cypress.
It is certainly very lovely & seems harder, but Bedad Bedad says
it would make about £30,00 Thirty dollars differ-ence with the ground floor if we changed.
I noticed today that Randalls doors are ter-ribly dented & defaced
They are pine & Holdie
